FIRE EARLY THIS MORNING.

An alarm was turned in at 1 a. m. today for a fire in a small wash house on the premises of a Japanese named Y. Kakakuwa, at 1365 Beretania street. It is not known how the fire started. The small building was destroyed. The walls of a barn on Nick Peterson's place were scorched.

MORGAN AND THE YACHTS

Today I received an answer from Mr. Hammedieu, and send it to you.

You will notice that he states "that their reputation as sportsmen is not at stake" etc., and gives excuse that this is simply a promotion committee yacht race, and not an invitation from the Hawaii Yacht Club.

We did all things possible to induce them to enter a yacht, claiming that it was not needful that the owner should sail the entry, and tried to get the club to make an entry, but as you can see, we failed. I think your club should reply to Mr. Hammedieu's letter as I understand that the yacht clubs were invited to enter the race.

Mr. Sinclair and Mr. Macfarlane decided that the race should be sailed, and Mr. Sinclair stated that the Anemone was at San Diego, and wished the race to take place.

It was decided that whereas the San Francisco clubs would not enter, and as it would take from 6 to 8 days for the yachts to come here from Los Angeles, and only about two days for the La Paloma to sail from here to San Pedro, that it would be best to have the race start from there, and that the South Coast Yacht Club of Los Angeles would take charge of all matters.

I immediately cabled you to that effect.

Mr. Sinclair has cabled to Vancouver to try and get the Maple Leaf to enter for while we hear that the boat will not come here, yet, not knowing the reason of its withdrawal, we are endeavoring to get her to enter.

As I leave here for New York on the 31st inst., I will not be able to render Mr. Macfarlane much further advice or assistance.

I remain, very truly yours,

JAS. F. MORGAN.
Hawaiian Relief Bureau, 424 Scott St.,
San Francisco, Cal., May 4, 1906.

R. R. Hammedieu, Secretary Pacific Inter Club Yacht Association.

Dear Sir: The yachts La Paloma, from Honolulu, Lurline, from Los Angeles and Anemone from New York are now ready to start on the ocean yacht race to Honolulu, and the owners and those interested are anxious to know if San Francisco yachtsmen and owners will, send at least one yacht to participate as originally understood.

It is contemplated to start the race on or about the 11th of June, and I will be under great obligations if you will either today or as soon as possible let me know in writing what prospects there is for a San Francisco Yacht entering the race, as those interested do not wish to complete details as to place of starting, time, and rules, until we have a decided answer from San Francisco yachtsmen.

Very respectfully yours,

JAS. F. MORGAN.
For Hawaii Yacht Club.

San Francisco, Cal. May 23, 1906.

James F. Morgan, Esq., Hawaii Yacht Club.

Dear Sir: In answer to your favor asking if there is likely to be a San Francisco yacht start in the ocean yacht race from San Francisco to Honolulu would say, unofficially, that to the best of my knowledge none of the local owners will take part. I have interviewed the owners of the Nixie and the Iola and both of these yachtsmen have withdrawn their entries. As for the other yacht owners they had declined when the request was first made to them. It is impossible for the Pacific Inter Club Yacht Association or any of the yacht clubs, that are a member of that organization, to do anything at this late date as the Hawaii Yacht Club or those who were handling the scheme worked directly with the yacht owners and not through the yacht association. The Pacific Inter Club Yacht Association will gladly do everything to assist in seeing that the yachts are sent away in proper shape and that an official record is forwarded to Honolulu, but the officers of that organization do not feel duty bound to see that San Francisco is represented by an entry as they know that their reputation as sportsmen is not at stake, for the race is not purely a racing proposition from Honolulu but a promotion scheme fostered by the Hawaii promotion committee. If at any future date the Hawaii Yacht Club would like to have an ocean race between yachts of the islands and those of San Francisco bay I think that it would be possible if the proposition was made to the Pacific Inter Club Yacht Association. That body would undoubtedly bring it before all the yacht clubs of the bay, through the delegates, and then competitors would be guaranteed before the race was announced. I hope for the sake of yachting on the Pacific, that the three yachts that will start will stir up enough interest so that the Hawaii Yacht Club itself will hold a race next year. If you will let me know the exact time of starting and the entries I will see that the officers of the Pacific Inter Club Yacht Association are on hand to make the official record.

Yours very truly,

R. R. HAMMEDIU.

Secretary, Pacific Inter Club Yacht Association.

H. H. Old, an assistant surgeon in the Navy, General Rixley is going to Cavite in connection with the inspection of Naval hospitals and other matters. He will also inspect other naval hospitals in the Far East. He was one of the physicians of President McKinley during the latter's last illness.

The Manchuria is scheduled to depart at 5 p. m. today from the Hackfield wharf, for the Orient. She does not go to Manila.

A number of the cabin passengers were permitted to go aboard the steamer in San Francisco a day before sailing time, owing to there being practically no hotel accommodations in the city. The Pacific Mail S. S. Company granted this special concession.

FRANK JOHNSON GIVES A NEW NAME BEFORE EXECUTION

THE MURDERER TELLS HIGH
SHERIFF HENRY THAT HE HAS BORNE AN ASSUMED NAME.

John O'Connell,—not Frank Johnson, according to his own statement—was hanged in Oahu prison this morning for the murder of Simeon Wharton. All the closing incidents of his worthless life tended to finally demonstrate not only that he committed the terrible crime for which he suffered, but that his plea of insanity at the trial was more of a pretense than probably even the theory of the prosecution contemplated, for at the last he made a statement in which he dropped all acting, threw aside the name of Frank Johnson and told of relatives in Ireland answering to the famous name of O'Connell. He walked with firm tread to the gallows, which he was hardly expected to do, and he went to his death absolutely painlessly after a silent acquiescence, by nods, in the prayers which the Rev. Father Clement offered for him on the death trap.

Johnson also confessed to his murder. He sent for Mrs. Kentwell and asked High Sheriff Henry to let Mrs. Kentwell, his former employer, come and see him, and to her, according to Mrs. Kentwell's statement, he admitted his guilt of the murder. To prison guards he claimed to the last not to remember what had happened on the day of his unprecedented crime.

It was two days ago that he asked High Sheriff Henry to let him see Mrs. Kentwell. He knew then that the morning of his death was near, and he wanted to see the woman who had long employed him as servant and who was a witness against him at the trial.

Last night Johnson—or O'Connell,—slept well up to midnight. At about one o'clock he awoke, and from that time on he remained awake. There can be no question whatever as to his sanity and his realization of his position during the hours that passed from this time up to the hour of his execution. He asked for food and ate three times between two this morning and the time of his death. At five o'clock he asked to be given a drink of whiskey and the prison officials allowed him a drink.

The Rev. Father Clement, the only regular visitor the murderer has had for days, called early this morning and gave the last rites. The murderer was attentive and seemed to appreciate his state. The Rev. O'Connell also attended him and offered prayers. Before eight o'clock the religious rites were over and Johnson—or O'Connell,—was left alone in his cell to await the hour of eight, at which time he might legally be killed.

At eight o'clock High Sheriff Henry in the presence of Father Clement and a few others, read the death warrant to the condemned and then the last preparations for the execution were made. Johnson stood absolutely silent while being strapped. When the last moment came he left his cell with a strong tread and he walked to the gallows unaided, accompanied by the Catholic Father.

On the gallows the murderer spoke no word. Father Clement offered a prayer, to which the man standing over the death trap listened with apparently earnest attention. Then came the awesome black cap, a wave of High Sheriff Henry's hand, and buzz of an electric apparatus, and the body of Johnson, or O'Connell, dangled at the end of a rope, and never even trembled again. As far as consciousness is concerned, his life was snapped out in a second, but it was 12 1/2 minutes, according to the doctor's time, before life was extinct. According to other watches, however, the time between the drop and the doctor's declaring the man dead was exactly eleven minutes. Either figure make the death remarkably quick. The physicians attending were Dr. W. L. Moore, prison physician and Dr. Ropenbach, of the German Training ship in port.

There were few persons present at the execution and most of them were officials. Just as the murderer walked on to the gallows a shower of rain began to fall, and it sprinkled the black cap during the few moments between the final prayer and the sign which set in motion the machinery of death. By the time the body was cut down a heavy rain was falling and those in the prison yard hastened for shelter.

Johnson's crime was the killing of little Simeon Wharton, a seven year old boy, on January 3 last. It was a crime of extraordinary atrocity. The little boy was enticed into a small forest of bushes and literally cut to pieces. All the indications of the evidence were that the murderer was a degenerate of a repulsive type. His trial occupied about four weeks. Attorney General Peters and Deputy Prosser, assisted by Chester Doyle, prosecuted, and T. M. Harrison defended. The defense was insanity. Through all the long trial the defendant sat motionless and silent. But the end of the proceedings showed that somewhere in his dull brain was an appreciation of the value of the "insanity dodge" and that he had really been working it with a degree of cunning. When the day for sentence came he surprised his counsel by making a fairly intelligent speech to the court, lasting three quarters of an hour, attempting to cast the blame on a Chinese acquaintance.

This morning up to the last moment, Johnson, as he chose to call himself, recognized acquaintances freely. He gave a nod of recognition and a smile to those who had attended his long trial. The execution was perfect in every detail and its conclusion was a relief to everyone concerned, for it had been looked forward to with painful anti-

Sugar War Predicted

RATE CUTTING IN WESTERN SECTION LIKELY TO BE EXTENDED TO THE EAST.

NEW YORK, May 24.—Members of the sugar trade here are of the opinion that the keen competition between the American Sugar Refinery and the Hawaiian Sugar Company, which started on the Pacific Coast, will very likely develop into a serious factor in the trade.

While the avowed intention of the California and Hawaiian Sugar Company upon commencing business was to supply the trade of the Pacific coast only, it is believed it may now take a more aggressive stand, shipping the product to the Middle West, in which event the Eastern sugar market will probably feel the influence of the rate cutting in the Western section.

BISHOP LIBERT RETURNED TODAY

WITH HIM IS BISHOP VERDIER
OF TAHITI WHO WILL REMAIN
TWO WEEKS BEFORE GOING ON.

His Lordship Bishop Libert Boeynaems, accompanied by the Right Reverend Bishop Verdier of Tahiti, returned to Honolulu this morning on the S. S. Manchuria. Bishop Libert went up to San Francisco shortly after the earthquake and returns full of sorrow at the sight of the once beautiful city. The Catholic church lost everything it had in San Francisco. Only one church is unharmed and that is the old land mark Mission Dolores.

"Out of the twelve churches two were destroyed by earthquake and ten by fire. There was no time to save anything not a single thing escaped except the Mission Dolores that has stood so long and withstood so many quakes."

"The Jesuit school in the city lost many things that cannot be replaced. Many old books and relics are lost forever. The Father Superior of the school said that owing to the suddenness of the whole affair that there was no time to do anything but to get out."

"The Catholic Sisters in the city are all without a home, temporary quarters have been arranged, but they are woefully lacking in what the others contained. Still all are doing the best possible."

"There were four quakes while I was there but nothing hard."

Bishop Verdier will probably remain here about two weeks before proceeding to Tahiti. The Bishop is a very old man.

A reception will be held to-night for the two Bishops. A program has been arranged and a good time is promised. All friends of the church are invited. The orchestra of the church will play.

BROOKS HERE

Francis M. Brooks, the well known former Honolulu attorney, now of Shanghai, was an arrival by the Manchuria this morning, on his way home from a visit to the mainland. Brooks met many old friends here. He will remain over a steamer. Mrs. Brooks is coming on the Siberia to meet him and return with him to Shanghai. Brooks is associated with former Attorney General Lorrin Andrews in the practice of law in Shanghai and has been very successful.

HALEIWA.

The Haleiwa Hotel, Honolulu's famous country resort, on the line of the Oahu Railway, contains every modern improvement and affords its guests an opportunity to enjoy all amusements—golf, tennis, billiards, fresh and salt water bathing, shooting, fishing, riding and driving. Ticket, including railway fare and one full day's room and board, are sold at the Honolulu Station and Trent & Company for $5. For departure of trains, consult time table.

On Sundays, the Haleiwa Limited, a two hour train, leaves at 8:22 a. m.; returning, arrives in Honolulu at 10 o'clock.

The dead man's statements to Henry showed that he had lost track of his relatives. Somewhere in Ireland, according to the statement which he sent for the High Sheriff in order to make there are three brothers and two sisters, bearing the name of O'Connell. Since Johnson came here nearly a score of years ago they have never heard of him, for he can neither read nor write. He ran away from home in Ireland and shipped on a sailing vessel which came to Honolulu. He shipped as Frank Johnson. When the vessel arrived here he deserted her, but he kept his assumed name.

He never gave his real name even to his attorney, any more than he allowed his attorney to know even that he could speak English as he did when it came to the time of sentence. As far as is known, the first time since his landing in Hawaii that he ever told his right name was between five and six this morning, when after several hours of smoking and restlessness, he asked the high sheriff to listen to him. That was about his last work to anyone on earth. Johnson—or O'Connell,—said he was quite unable either to read or write and couldn't communicate with his people and didn't know where they were. His brothers and sisters and father and mother—if they are still living,—will very likely be spared any knowledge of the miserable fate he met.

SMALLPOX ON THE SIERRA

A PASSENGER ARRIVING HERE
BY THE CHINA AND DEPARTING
ON THE SIERRA THE PATIENT.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—Sixty-two boxes of English sovereigns, valued at $1,500,000, were brought to this city from Australia by the Oceanic Company's steamship Sierra. The gold is consigned to local banks and is the largest single shipment of its kind in years.

H. Williams, a cabin passenger, who boarded the Sierra at Honolulu, was afflicted with smallpox. He went to the islands on the steamship China and when one day out on the homeward voyage of the Sierra he was stricken with the disease. He was immediately isolated and all the cabin passengers were vaccinated. These precautions saved the vessel and those on board from quarantine for the regulation time. The liner was released yesterday evening, but did not dock until early this morning.
